We will fight for working families in the face of tariffs

By Tony Santavenere, Secretary-Treasurer / Principal Officer

Many Canadian steel companies are facing significant challenges when dealing with U.S. President Donald Trump's tariffs on steel imports. The 50 per cent (as of July 28) tariff has disrupted long-standing trade between the two countries, causing financial strain on Canadian producers and leading to uncertainty across the industry. Companies like Tree Island Steel and Varsteel are having to adjust operations and seeking alternative markets. The Local continues to lobby the Federal and Provincial Governments for support measures for our affected Canadian companies, including financial aid, job protections and funding for companies to remain competitive. These are good, fair-paying jobs that we need to protect in Canada.

Canada's 2025 economy is navigating a complex landscape shaped by ongoing geopolitical tensions, trade policies and a slower than expected global reality. One big step is that our Federal and Provincial Governments have been actively working to pass legislation aimed at improving the infrastructure and regulatory process needed to get the country's natural resources to both domestic and international markets. This includes streamlining environmental assessments, supporting major pipelines and transportation projects, and investing in trade corridors. These bills are aimed to balance environmental protection with economic development. In addition, funding has been directed towards expanding ports, railways and roads to ensure our oil, gas and minerals can reach global markets efficiently. These efforts need to be achieved to boost Canada's economic competitiveness, create jobs and strengthen ties with global trade partners and find new trade partners. The Local Union is standing strong in support of the Federal and Provincial Governments' change in legislation, recognizing it is a crucial step in protecting our members' livelihoods.

Canada's 2025 economy is navigating a complex landscape shaped by ongoing geopolitical tensions, trade policies and a slower than expected global reality.

We are committed to advocating for our members while lobbying Federal and Provincial Governments for a fair and equitable environment for our members.

With global volatility, the Local continues to successfully press on. I am pleased to announce that the labour dispute at OK Ready Mix, a Division of Heidelberg Materials Canada Ltd., has ended with the ratification of a four-year agreement. Thank you to Rob Cook and the members for staying strong and united on the picket line. Your dedication and solidarity are what made us strong and helped to achieve a successful agreement.

Our Organizing Department deserves tremendous praise for their success and relentless hard work. Their dedication, strategic planning and tireless efforts has grown our Local Union to well over 11,000 members by bringing in many new companies like Minibins, Pratt's Food (Lowe Mainland), Ascot Gold Resources, Kuehne + Nagel, Avis Budget, Transcontinental Flexstar and Sysco (Interior). On behalf of the Local, I would like to welcome our new Sisters and Brothers to the Union.

Construction continues to be busy with the many Community Benefit and Project Labour Agreement projects with the Provincial Government, LNG Canada, Site C, John Hart and Ladore Dam, along with the recently started Enbridge Aspen North. With the change in federal and provincial legislation on fast-tracking projects, we are anticipating the work for our members to be greater than our original projection.

Jaime Donnelly, Teamsters Canada's Education Director and Dave Schaub from the BC Labour Board both did a spectacular presentation at our Interior Shop Steward Seminar. Jaime provided a comprehensive and interactive training on Canadian labour history, the art of communications, generations at the workplace and alternative dispute resolutions. Dave gave a legal overview on collective bargaining and analysis. Both presentations were received well by the stewards, and we look forward to having them at our next Shop Steward Seminar in Vancouver in November.

The Joint Training School is set to open in Chilliwack this summer. Konrad Sears has done a tremendous job on the facility renovations and new course curriculum. I am extremely excited for the opening. The school has brought on two new instructors.

Sheila Sutherland from Fraser River Pile and Dredge will be our Lead Warehouse Instructor and Steve Valliant from Heidelberg will be our first Driving Instructor. Welcome aboard to both. I would like to thank Brother Nav Malhotra and LiUNA 1611 for their continued support and partnership on this venture.

With growth comes pain and with pain comes challenges. To alleviate the pressure the Local has brought on a third lawyer, Jorgan Tennant and an article student, Ray Gill. Both are adjusting well and will have bright futures for the Local.

LNG Canada makes first shipment

By Jason Conway

With the news that LNG Canada has made its first shipment from the North Coast of B.C., it's time to reflect upon the contributions made by Teamsters 213 members to the historic project.

Teamsters Local Union 213 has had a heck of a run on the LNG Site over the past three to four years with multiple members gaining employment through various contractors who successfully were awarded contracts to perform work on the site during the project and who are still working up to this very day!

One of the biggest employers was Fluor Constructors Canada Limited (FCCL) where we had members employed from warehouse persons, truck drivers, flat deck drivers, fuel drivers and rock truck drivers. WSG/Serviceco is another signatory employer who secured a maintenance contract for the construction of the LNG plant also employing multiple Teamsters throughout and currently. While the project was ongoing, we also managed to secure an agreement with the main LNG insulation company Altrad where we have members working and members are still being called out to work there.

With the news of the project's first produced gas from Train 1 this past June, followed by loading its first ship for market, we are now nearing the end of the construction for phase 1 of the LNG facility. Currently we still have members employed with FCCL working to finish off Train 2 with roughly 30 – 35 Teamsters members still employed between construction, commissioning and warehousing which we anticipate them winding down as Train 2 is completed.

As for Altrad Services, we currently have between 40 – 50 Teamsters members actively working, running the warehouse operations and deliveries supporting Altrad's insulation union and painters union crews which will also begin to slow down just after the construction is completed on Train 2.

As for WSG/Serviceco and its maintenance contract, that will continue to the end of the project. WSG did however win an additional scope of civil work and final grade which also extended manpower on the site.

This project has been a great opportunity for our union and its members, with the added bonus of having new members included to be part of the training. That experience is invaluable to both the young workers and Teamsters 213.

As for the completed side of the project, Teamsters are also proud to be a part of the Pacific Regional Maintenance Council agreement with contractor Waiward Industrial on a five-year maintenance contract with LNG Canada. Our union is one of the trades involved in the work scope. We are also happy to report our local's success with organizing Kuehne & Nagel which is LNG Canada's main warehouse contractor, employing around 30 people. We began our first round of bargaining in mid-July.

Organizing for Power

By Jeremy Allingham

To say Sysco foods has a reputation for being anti-union would be a significant understatement.

The American multinational food services company (which earned $79 billion USD in 2024) has been repeatedly documented using tracking systems, mandatory anti-union messaging, dismissals and punitive hours reductions. That's not to mention its commitment to hiring union-busting consultants and using intimidation tactics during organizing or contract negotiations.

As you might imagine, Sysco's deeply anti-union culture and practices make it one helluva tough nut to crack when it comes to unionization. Here in B.C., Teamsters 213 organizers have been trying to make inroads with the company for decades. But even in the most promising moments, where it seemed like unionization might have been a possibility, swift crackdowns, threats and retaliation always seemed to win the day.

You could say Sysco has always been Teamsters 213's white whale. The union has hunted and hunted, and chased and chased. They just couldn't quite hook the big one.

But, unlike the hunter Ahab in Moby Dick, the Sysco story comes with a happy ending. Putting their dogged determination to the test, Teamsters 213 organizers were finally able to come home with the catch.

About one year ago, enough of Sysco's warehouse workers signed union cards to become Teamsters 213 members. Sysco drivers were soon to follow suit. All in all, it meant about 1,500 new Sysco members between Teamsters Local 213 and Teamsters Local 31.

"B.C. Teamsters have been trying to get Sysco and get into the food delivery system for a long time," said Teamsters 213 organizer Alex Bruse. "It was a massive accomplishment, years and years in the making."

And while bringing so many Sysco workers under the Teamsters umbrella was a massive step for the union movement, what followed was arguably even more important.

According to Bruse, the organizing success with Sysco caused a wave of unionization throughout the food services industry. Sysco was the first domino to drop, and now workers with other companies want what unionized workers get: fair collective agreements, good pay and benefits, and strong representation.

"Sysco was a groundbreaking cert that changed the entire food services industry," said Bruse. "This was the step we needed that unlocked the Fort Knox of getting these food delivery companies. Getting Sysco as a flagship opened up doors for Teamsters in B.C. that had previously been slammed shut."

Bruse said, since organizing Sysco, Teamsters 213 has now brought on members from Pratt's Foods, both in the Lower Mainland and the Interior. Teamsters 31 has been able to organize Gordon's Foods.

Teamsters Local 213 Principal Officer Tony Santavenere credits 213's organizers for the monumental achievement with Sysco.

"The organizers work day and night. They're committed to their craft, 100 per cent," said Santavenere. "They work seven days a week, 24/7. All three of them will go through a brick wall to get a card signed."

And while Santavenere has high praise for his organizers, he and Bruse say these organizing drives might not have happened without one of the most important tools in a B.C. organizer's tool kit. And that is, card check.

CARD CHECK

Card check, also known as single-step certification, streamlines the unionization process for workers.

If 55 per cent or more of employees in a proposed bargaining unit sign union membership cards, the union is automatically certified by the BC Labour Relations Board.

The key element of card check is that it removes the requirement for a secret ballot vote, meaning anti-union employers lose their ability to pressure and threaten workers ahead of a unionization vote.

“On the Sysco organizing drive, without card check, they could’ve gone on the attack and tried to sway the vote, but that didn’t happen,” said Alex Bruse. “Since card check came in, I’ve never lost an application. Card check really put us over the hump.”

The BC NDP government under Premier John Horgan and Labour Minister Harry Bains brought the card check system back in June 2022 with a Labour Relations Code amendment.

That policy marked the first change in 20 years. B.C. had previously used a two-step system which required cards to be signed and a vote to take place. Every union organizer knows that secret ballot votes can leave their organizing efforts vulnerable to company interference and intimidation.

“Card check has been a gamechanger,” said Santavenere. “The NDP government really gave us a powerful tool to build the strength of our union and to build the labour movement as a whole.”

The B.C. Ministry of Labour said the government continues to support the card check system as a means of labour organization.

“When a clear majority of workers have already indicated their support for a union, they should not have to go through multiple steps to restate that preference,” read a statement sent by the Ministry.

“The single-step card check system has enhanced access to unionization and reduced the opportunity for employer interference in the certification process.”

And while card check is clearly important, Alex Bruse maintained that it was leadership from Teamsters 213 Principal Officer Tony Santavenere that has allowed the local to be successful organizing, not only companies like Sysco, but others too. Those include Arrow Environmental, Kuehne + Nagel, Minibins, Linde Gas, Vitalair Canada and many more.

LAZER-FOCUSED ON ORGANIZING

While he’s hesitant to take credit for the surge in organizing, Santavenere admits that he sees organizing as the lifeblood of the union. With new members, comes new life and sustainability for the organization.

“Organizing is the key to all unions’ growth and strength in membership,” said Santavenere. “I’ve been really focused on building and supporting our organizing department for the last six years.”

Santavenere said, one of the best parts of being in a union is access to excellent health and welfare plans, as well as a good pension. Consistent surges in membership make those programs work.

“Your strength in numbers with your health and welfare plans, your pension plans...the more people you get into those plans participating, the more you’re able to make benefit improvements, which is great for all members,” said Santavenere.

Bruse said leadership on the organizing file has been crucial to building Local 213’s ranks.

“Tony has constantly pushed for more investments. He started the whole movement of ‘organizing for power,’” he said. “He was vital behind the scenes. Without him, none of this would’ve happened. It takes that captain, that clear leadership from the top, for me to be able to do what I do, to bring in new members.”

One of the big investments made by 213 is the Teamsters organizing trailer. It’s a 30’ trailer with a massive “Teamsters 213” and the Teamsters horse emblazoned on the side. When that trailer pulls up to a worksite, you can be sure the employees, who are potential future members, take notice.

“The truck and trailer gets the brand out there. Without the brand, especially nowadays with the youth and the youth movement, you’ve got nothing. We’ve been able to revitalize the brand by doing this work,” said Bruse

Both Santavenere and Bruse acknowledge that card check, a focus on organizing and the purchase of the organizing trailer have all played a role in recent organizing success, but both agree that, when it comes to organizing, the most important ingredient of all is relentless hard work.

“We never ever quit,” said Bruse. “We had a goal which was to get Sysco. We kept it as a high priority and the local provided the resources to make it happen. That’s what got us the results.”

Card check has been a gamechanger ...
The NDP government really gave us a powerful tool to build the strength of our union and to build the labour movement as a whole.

Congratulations

Business Representative Paul Way (L) and Brother Guenter Bouman.

Guenter Bouman

49 years with Teamsters

After 49 years working as a Teamsters, Brother Guenter Bouman has retired.

He joined Local 213 in April 1976 while working at a small builder supply store in Parksville, B.C. The following year, he transitioned to Fording Coal with Dillingham, starting as a fuel truck driver before operating one of the first Cat 777s in British Columbia. In 1979, he moved on to work rock trucks at Duke Point for BACM, where he and his co-workers faced a jurisdictional dispute that led to months of picketing. Their efforts resulted in a court decision affirming their right to refuse work alongside non-affiliated workers.

Over the years, he has worked on numerous major projects across British Columbia, including the boiler at Port Mellon Pulp, the natural gas distribution line from Langford into Victoria and West Saanich, the Inland Island Highway, the Nanaimo Parkway, the Southern Crossing Pipeline, the Ootsa Lake Spillway, the Kitimat Modernization Project, the Cabin Lake Pipeline near Fort Nelson, and most recently, the Coastal GasLink project for the past six to seven years. His dedication to the industry led him to serve as a Steward, a Safety Committee member and even a Foreman.

Congratulations on your retirement, Brother! Wishing you the best on your new chapter!

Kelowna Shop Steward Training

We were pleased to offer an intensive and interactive Shop Steward seminar specifically designed to enhance our shop stewards' knowledge and skillset in Kelowna on May 24th.

Konrad Sears, Local 213 Training Coordinator, started off the morning session with a presentation on our training school. Our school's purpose is to provide Teamsters members with the knowledge, skills and ability to further promote "Teamsters Work" at the highest and safest level possible in heavy construction roadbuilding and pipeline construction.

Dave Schaub, Director of Mediation from the Labour Relations Board of BC, continued the morning session with education on legal framework, legislation, negotiations and mediation.

Jamie Donnelly, Teamsters Canada (Director of Education — English) provided comprehensive and interactive training on Canadian Labour History, the Art of Communication, Generations at Work and Alternative Dispute Resolution for our afternoon session.

The seminar was well attended by shop stewards across the South-Central Interior representing all trades. Teamsters 213 is committed to ongoing training for all of our union reps so that they are in the best possible position to work on behalf of members at the workplace. Thanks to everyone who came out!

Heidelberg Materials Okanagan Contract Ratified

A huge congratulations goes out to Teamsters 213 members working for Heidelberg Materials in the Okanagan. After an arduous strike action, the labour dispute came to an end with the ratification of a new contract.

Teamsters 213 would like to thank all the members at OK Ready Mix who stayed strong and united from day one of the strike through to the end. They stood side by side even when braving -17 degree weather. Now that's solidarity!

The group achieved a four-year deal with 7% / 4.5% / 3% / 3.5% increases.

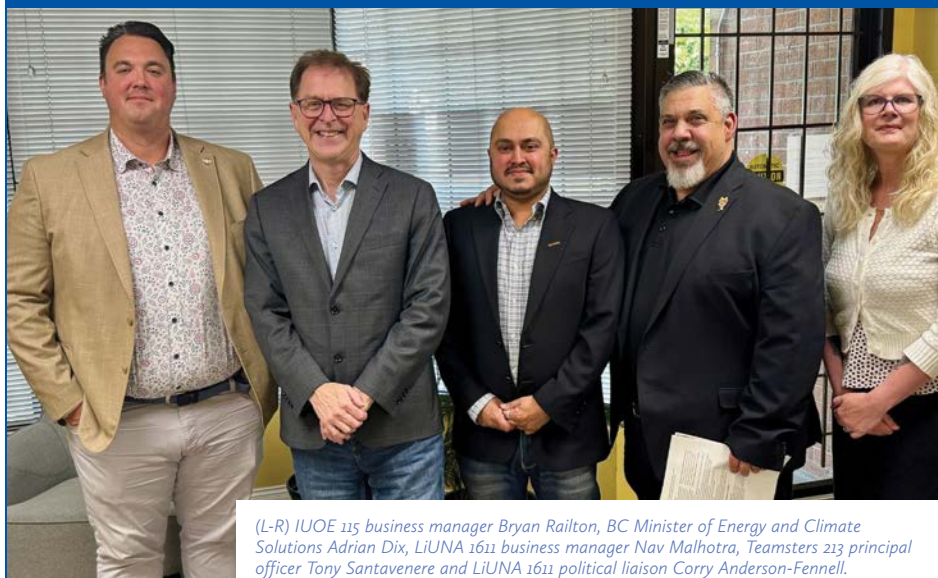

Special thanks goes out to Sister Kimm Davis and Brother Barry Capozzi, along with the organizing department and the bargaining committee, Todd Gray, Cody Berard, Ross Giardullo and Mark Verhaege.

To all the neighbouring businesses, other unions, the Kelowna Curling club and the public, we thank you all for your support. It meant a lot to the membership.

Santavenere discusses future projects with BC Minister of Energy Adrian Dix

Big thanks to Minister of Energy and Climate Solutions Adrian Dix for taking the time to meet with Teamsters 213 Business Manager Tony Santavenere and our TEL Group partners from IUOE 115 and LiUNA 1611.

We had a great conversation about how our members are ready to help build key energy projects like the North Coast Transmission Line from Prince George to Terrace that will deliver clean, reliable power to industries across B.C.

by the BCIB), in order to work on the project.

The Highway 1 expansion project in the Lower Mainland has started with employers such as KEA, Hall, BA, Regehr and All Roads and will continue over the next few years.

Highway 1 remediation continues with the Tank Hill project located outside of Lytton where they are repairing damage from the flooding of 2021.

The John Hart Dam and Ladore Spillway project have slowly continued with local hires being a key component to the project.

The Pattullo Bridge replacement continues to move along. At Site C, our members continue to provide excellent camp services to those who are working on site.

Pipeline work has returned to the province as Enbridge T-North will start during the middle of August and tentatively finish by the middle of November.

Keeping your profile up to date is especially important if you upgrade your certifications or have run new machinery and are proficient at it. Contact dispatch to update your profile. It is up to the member to keep their profile up to date, the consequences of not updating your profile are that you may miss out on the possibility of work when it becomes available.

A current driver's abstract is another important piece of information to have on hand. It is a requirement for dispatch as well as most employers. Registration forms were sent out in February 2025, please fill them out and return to dispatch as soon as possible. A new driver's abstract is required for the 2025 work year.

As some of you already know Local 213 has instituted a Code of Conduct for all members working on pipeline, heavy construction and roadbuilding projects. It is important that you sign and return them to the local as soon as possible.

As a reminder, all members who get laid off work must book back into the hall if they wish to be called for more work!

Have a happy and safe summer!

Summer of 2025 continues to be a transition period for work, as new projects start to ramp up and as we wait for the next round of projects to get going.

Construction projects like the Coastal GasLink (Shell LNG) Gas Plant continues to wind down and companies like Fluor, Waiward and Altrad are still working onsite.

Roadbuilding is going to be busy again throughout the province in 2025. Under the Community Benefits Agreement, the Highway 1 expansion project continues. Improvements for Highway 1 at Bruhn Bridge, Jumping Creek, Chase East, Selkirk and Salmon Arm continue to move along, and more will follow as we wait for the next stages to start. The Highway 1 projects will require the following safety course: SiteReadyBC certification (supplied

Teamsters 213 meet with Transportation Minister

Teamsters 213 Business Representatives Amneet Sekhon and Ruvien Mahil met with Minister Mike Farnworth in Victoria during the BC Building Trades convention back in March. It was a productive meeting where they thanked the minister for his assistance on the Highway 1 project when he supported our union in ensuring that Teamsters dump truck owner-operators got paid. We look forward to collaborating with the Minister and his government on many more projects in the future!

Real or Artificial Intelligence?

By Anita Dawson, Recording Secretary and Business Representative

Artificial intelligence (AI) used to be reserved for the creepiest plot lines of science fiction movies. But now, it is very much an everyday reality. Once thought to be decades away from regular use, AI is now expanding and being adopted so quickly that it's becoming hard to gauge at what expense to human jobs and interactions.

Originally, robotics were a concern in our workplaces. I remember hearing, "robots could take over our jobs!". That doesn't seem to be as much of a concern anymore! Robotics can't think and they can't make decisions that the human can. Unlike robotics, AI can make decisions. It gathers information, implementing and executing what needs to be done. AI can be integrated with robotics and could lead to the replacement of humans. To say that thought is scary would be an understatement.

So, what can we do? Teamsters 213 Executive Board and Business Reps recently attended an AI seminar. The presenter, Hadrian Mertins-Kirkwood, from the Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives (CCPA) spoke about the many aspects of Artificial Intelligence that we should be concerned about: is it safe, ethical and regulated?

Mertins-Kirkwood showed us how AI has evolved. As an example, he compared an AI generated image of human hands from two years ago in what can only be described as not accurate (too many fingers, disjointed etc.) and basically creepy. He compared it to a recent a video clip of an AI generated video ad that had AI generated actors. It was very convincing as the images were very lifelike. He went on to point out that the video clip was made in a very small amount of time for about $500 and if this had been a production with real actors and production costs it would have probably been over $10,000! AI in our workplaces is very real and will impact us all.

Currently, AI is not regulated in Canada, although, the Artificial Intelligence and Data Act (AIDA) Bill C-27, which aims to regulate AI applications at the federal level, is under legislative review. Workers should be demanding a say in their workplaces over how AI is implemented.

AI should complement workers, but not replace them. We need to strongly argue that AI should not be used to form the basis for worker constructive dismissal. AI needs regulation and oversight. Our collective agreements need to be proactive by incorporating language to protect workers from AI.

For example, AI performance monitoring should not be used to discipline a worker. There should be a requirement for humans to be in the loop for all decisions. Employers need to be transparent and consultation should be mandatory when it comes to all aspects of AI in our workplaces.

Workplaces will continue to change but it should not be at the expense of our workers and our livelihoods!

Pipeline work continues in B.C.

by Jason Conway, Director of Construction and Business Representative

Welcome to 2025 and the construction remains ongoing up to this midway point of the year. Construction projects and government infrastructure projects continue throughout the Province of B.C. Some of these projects are nearing completion with others progressing along from special highway projects, bridge replacements, infrastructure and LNG.

The 2025 Construction and Pipeline sectors started off somewhat less productive when it comes to job opportunities than 2024 which was expected due to both the Trans Mountain and Coastal GasLink Pipelines reaching completion in 2024. Now with LNG Canada's 40-billion-dollar export terminal in Kitimat announcing that it has completed its first production run with its first shipment of natural gas expected to follow, we can now look back at this and say what an accomplishment for Canada and the BC Building Trades participation and successes that have taken place with being a part of building this mega project. Teamsters Local 213 says thank you to all our Teamsters members who came out and worked on the project. You were a part of one of the largest private sector investments in British Columbia's history!

Upcoming pipeline projects in B.C., as of 2025, several pipeline projects are either in progress or in the planning stages in British Columbia, some of these projects are being driven by demand for natural gas, oil, and the growing LNG world export market. However, the specific landscape of pipeline development in B.C. has been shaped by environmental concerns, Indigenous rights and fluctuating global energy demands. One of these important projects is Enbridge expansions to T-North and T-South lines where Michels Canada has been awarded portions of this work which the Teamsters dispatch has recently begun dispatching members out to. We are very fortunate that Michels Canada was successful with bidding this work given all the challenges faced in B.C. that comes with these projects. Enbridge seeks to expand capacity by supporting rising B.C. gas production to a hungry market. Union pipeline contractors who we are working with and supporting are actively bidding on other project opportunities like the Prince Rupert Gas Transmission Pipeline, which is a 900-kilometer line set to deliver gas to a proposed floating LNG terminal.

Teamsters Local 213 will continue to look forward to more upcoming projects in British Columbia in all sectors of the industry to support our members with more job opportunities through our successful signatory contractors. As always, thank you to all the Teamster members for their dedication, hard work and time spent away from their families to be on some of the jobs you were dispatched for in both the construction and pipeline industries. It is greatly appreciated.

Joint Training School set to open

By Konrad Sears, Training Administrator

As we approach summer, we look forward to the new Teamsters 213 Joint Training School (JTS) and Liuna 1611 Training and Resource Centre being completed. With the new location we welcome three new instructors to the JTS 213 Team.

Sheila Sutherland comes to us from Fraser River Pile and Dredge and brings a wealth of warehousing experience and knowledge. She will be looking after our general course enrolment and our Warehousing Program.

Steve Valente comes to us from Heidelberg and brings an infectious get-it-done attitude and years of experience in the driving and concrete industry. He will be one of two instructors in our new Driver Services Division.

Tom Browne who comes directly from the commercial driver training industry brings over 30 years of driving and driving instructing to our team and will be working with Steve in the Driver Services Division.

As we finalize our new Driver Services Division we anticipate being able to offer courses in the next few months. Please refer to our web site teamsters213training.org for the latest updated information.

Many of you have already heard our union is part of a team of Teamsters working on a Red Seal for Warehousing. It is still a work in progress but moving along quite well. There is no defined date for completion, but we hope to be running a test pilot course early in 2026.

With this growth you have started to see some changes in our operations. These changes will allow us to be more efficient and accountable to our members and the employers we serve. We ask that you have patience with the new changes and support our staff as we transition.

If you have any questions or want to request training, please send an email to info@teamsters213training.org.

Have a safe and wonderful summer!

VANCOUVER ISLAND UPDATE

by Paul Way, Business Representative

Vancouver Island has been extremely busy for our signatory companies especially in the construction sector. Our paving and Ready Mix companies are looking forward to a very busy season.

In the Cowichan Valley, construction is moving rapidly on the Cowichan District Hospital Replacement Project. This Project will replace the Cowichan District Hospital with a new 47,800 square metre facility with approximately 204 beds. The project is providing great jobs for people in the area thanks to the Community Benefits Agreement. There are currently two Teamsters working on this project as well as several Teamsters Owner Operators.

In addition, Teamster company Foundation Building Materials (FBM) has been supplying the project on an almost daily basis with vast amounts of drywall, insulation, metal studs, etc. All our Teamsters are doing an excellent job.

In other work, the upgrade to the John Hart Seismic Project in Campbell River is continuing. This is an exciting project for the region as well as our local Teamsters.

I would like to extend a warm welcome to two new Teamsters 213 members, Lindsay and Robert with Hermsen Construction from Saanichton. We look forward to working with you!

by Rob Cook, Business Representative

Greetings Brothers and Sisters.

With the arrival of summer and the return of warmer weather, paving in the Okanagan is off to a strong start. Numerous smaller projects are currently underway across Kelowna, Kamloops, Beaverdell, Elkhart Lodge and Logan Lake.

On the construction front, several British Columbia Infrastructure Benefit (BCIB) projects are progressing steadily. The Ford Road to Tappen widening project is moving forward and just up the road in Sicamous, the Bruhn Bridge replacement is also underway. Recently, fellow Business Representative Ruvien Mahil and I visited the Jumping Creek to MacDonald site, as well as the Selkirk widening project, located just north of the recently completed Quartz Creek project near Golden.

Western Highways has started work on an overhead bridge at Tank Hill, west of Lytton. Meanwhile, Emil Anderson is replacing two bridges on Highway 8 between Merritt and Lytton, as part of the ongoing repairs following recent landslides.

Looking ahead, a notice to bargain has been sent to E360 Environmental, which holds the residential and commercial garbage and recycling contract in Kelowna. Their current agreement is set to expire at the end of September.

In freight, I'm pleased to report that, working alongside Local 31, we successfully negotiated a fair five-year deal for the Members of Van Kam Freightways. This agreement includes wage increases and a cost-of-living allowance clause.

I'm also proud to share that Members at Heidelberg Materials (formerly OK Ready Mix) in Kelowna, Penticton and Kamloops ratified a fair contract in April. After 94 days on strike, they are now back to work. I can't say enough about this incredible group. They stood strong and united from beginning to end, through difficult weather conditions including blustery days and temperatures as low as -17°C. My sincere thanks to Teamsters Local Union 213 for its unwavering support throughout the strike.

In other negotiations, members at Kelowna Ready Mix recently ratified a fair three-year agreement that includes wage and pension increases. I'm also currently actively bargaining with Korpack Cement Products in Trail.

I hope you and your loved ones enjoy a safe and healthy summer. I look forward to continuing our work together.

Plenty of action in the North

By Justin Roylance, Business Representative

Hello members, I hope the year has been good to everyone, it's been a busy but good one for myself.

The year has started off slow for most of our industry in the northern sections of the province with many major projects winding down or wrapped up. Summer weather has finally hit us which has been a breath of fresh air for our members in the roadbuilding and Ready Mix industries, finally getting out to work.

We are anticipating a steady year in roadbuilding as well as Ready Mix. Our members at Site C are working towards the project wrapping up with anticipated demobilisation to start this fall.

I want to thank our membership working at Saulteau Safety and Security performing work at Site C as well as our members at Industrial Shuttle for their help in achieving renewals of their respective collective agreements. We are just getting started on renewal of the Kode Contracting collective agreement with hopes of having it wrapped up and ratified this summer.

Arrow Transportation continues to grow and keep the membership working. We have many different divisions throughout the province such as log towing operations in Adams Lake, Chilliwack, Ashcroft and Stewart. We have divisions hauling concentrates out of various mines throughout British Columbia and fibre hauls such as Kamloops Chips, Quesnel Chips and Prince George Northern Bulk. Teamsters 213 also has whole log grinding divisions in Kamloops as well as grinder operators, River City whole log chipper mill in Kamloops, Kamloops Reload and Arrow Project Services who work at various sites around Kamloops and the Lower Mainland.

On the federal side, our members working for Paladin Airport Security Services doing pre-board airport security in Williams Lake, Quesnel, Smithers, Terrace, Prince Rupert and Sandspit have had a tough go in negotiations. We are now in Federal Mediation and Conciliation Services and have a very big arbitration hearing coming up in October.

We hope to get back to the table to work towards a renewal of the unit's collective agreement shortly after the arbitration.

In closing, I want to thank all the interior shop stewards who attended our Shop Steward Seminar in Kelowna in May, it was a great turn out and was well received by all.

I look forward to seeing all the members throughout the region this summer and fall. Please ensure you're following our social media accounts on Facebook, X and Instagram as well as our website for regular updates.

Thank you all for your continued support and taking time to read my article, have a safe and healthy summer.

Facing the Slowdown: Commitment and Resilience in Dump Trucking

By Ruvien Mahil, Business Representative

It's been a challenging year for the dump truck industry. Work has slowed significantly and many drivers are feeling the impact. For those who've been trucking for years, this kind of downturn isn't new — the industry moves in cycles. Still, knowing that it eventually picks back up doesn't make the current stretch any easier.

The slowdown has created real hardship for many dump truckers. Fewer jobs means less income and more stress, especially for owner-operators who carry the costs of equipment, maintenance and insurance. It's a tough spot to be in and we see how deeply this is affecting our trucking community both union and non-union.

Thankfully, some major infrastructure projects have helped keep the wheels turning. The Surrey-Langley SkyTrain expansion and the Highway 1 improvement project have both provided crucial work opportunities and dump truckers are working when they can thanks to these ongoing developments. These projects have offered a bit of relief during an otherwise difficult season.

We're working hard behind the scenes to secure more work and open new doors for unionized dump truckers. Our goal is to keep our members working, even when the industry hits a lull.

Another major project making a difference is the Pattullo Bridge replacement. As we near completion, it's worth recognizing the vital role dump truckers have played every step of the way. From hauling materials to supporting excavation, truckers have been the backbone of this massive undertaking. Their hard work and reliability have been key in keeping the project on schedule and moving forward.

We're proud of the contributions dump truckers have made and continue to work behind the scenes to bring more projects online. Although times are tough, we're staying proactive and doing everything we can to ensure there's work ahead for the truckers.

Ongoing work on the Surrey Langley Skytrain project is keeping some Teamsters 213 dump truck drivers busy.

Welcome Jorgan Tennant!

Jorgan joined the Teamsters as legal counsel in early May of this year. Previously, he was the principal of Tennant & Co. Law Corporation, where he helped clients navigate complex civil and administrative legal disputes. He now turns his focus to supporting the Union and employing the skills he has developed throughout his career to advocate for workers' rights.

Prior to starting Tennant & Co., Jorgan was a member of a national insurance litigation firm, where he worked in a broad variety of practice areas including employment, property, construction and personal injury. He successfully ran his first solo trial as an articling student at the firm and has since represented clients at the Provincial Court and Supreme Court of British Columbia, as well as the BC Labour Board, the BC Human Rights Tribunal, Police Act disciplinary proceedings, the Civil Resolution Tribunal and the Residential Tenancy Branch.

Jorgan is originally from Coquitlam and attended the University of Victoria where he received a Bachelor of Arts in economics before attending Thompson Rivers University in Kamloops for his law degree. During his studies, he worked part-time as a server or bartender at various restaurants and golf courses.

The experience that he gained at these jobs interacting with customers and co-workers has been invaluable in his legal career and he takes pride in continuing to take a people-focused approach to his work.

During his downtime, Jorgan plays in the East Van Baseball League and rarely turns down an invitation to golf. He is also an avid Canucks fan.

Teamsters Pride Truck

Teamsters 213 was proud to celebrate Pride in the month of June and all year round! One Local 213 member was up to the task in a major way. Purolator shop steward Vicki Glabus decked out her truck for the duration of Pride Month.

Great job, Vicki. It looked amazing!

Teamsters Canada president visits

Did you know that almost all Coca-Cola beverages sold in Canada are made right here at home? Many are even made by our Teamsters 213 members!

Solidarity is the secret ingredient for our local Coca-Cola workers, who recently welcomed our National President François Laporte and Teamsters Local 213 Secretary-Treasurer / Principal Officer Tony Santavenere for a workplace visit.

We thank the members for the warm welcome and for showing us around the facility in Richmond.

Keep up the good work!
